

Congregational Spotlight on: Seth Davis – Fearless Man of God

A precious baby boy decided it was time to make his entrance into the world on Tuesday, May 1, 2001. It's no coincidence Michelle chose to name him Seth, which means 'placed' or 'appointed' in Hebrew. When God formed Seth, He made him for a purpose, a particular assignment.

Then a few years later God gave Seth a baby sister to share his childhood with. Of course there are the usual sibling disagreements, which might involve a thrown shampoo bottle or two; however, Seth would...is it fair to say...'grudgingly' admit that he really does love and care for his sister.

When Seth was 10 years old he went to Harvest Homecoming like anyone else who lives around here. This particular year was rather eventful for him. You see he had gotten on the ride with the yellow and red car.

He was so...Mr. Cool Breeze...that he fell out of the car and busted his noggin. Yep, he was sporting a pretty good bruise that Sunday. Thankfully, Seth has learned to take things in stride and laugh at himself. Of course it certainly wasn't funny at that time.

Seth has a variety of favorite things. One would be that if you wanted to make his favorite dish then lasagna would definitely be his choice. If he wanted to read a book besides the Bible, he would probably pick up a book written by John Green. However, if he wanted to watch a favorite movie, it would definitely be Chicken Little.

This year is Seth's sophomore year in high school and school isn't exactly his favorite thing in the world. BUT...drama/theater is what has helped him to survive. He particularly likes helping out with the backstage part of theater including spotlighting.

When he graduates high school, Seth would like to go to college to be a family lawyer. There have been quite a few ups and downs with his dad and he wants to help others that have experienced some of the same things he has. Although his sister says he would make a good lawyer because he's good at arguing. Hmmm!

Seth went through a dark and depressive time in his young life. Even though he had always been in church, he didn't fully understand God. One Sunday morning during children's church the spirit of God was really strong and he felt something stirring within him.

He had given his heart to Jesus at a young age but it was during this specific Sunday morning that the children's church leader prayed for him and told him that the feeling he was feeling was God. That God-experience moment changed his life forever.

Here at Revolution Church he would like to see it grow numerically and spiritually. He would also like to see more outreach not only within, but also outside of the walls.

Seth, God made no mistake when He created you. He has appointed you to bring His gospel message to the world. You are fearless and wonderfully unique. Though you like to be a part of the group, you long to be different. That's because God has set you apart and you are not status quo. In God's army you are a frontline warrior because you are fearless and determined. Yes, determined that Satan will no longer take others with him.
