

Congregational Spotlight on: *Jessica Ashlock – Precious Child of God

Jessica Amber Ashlock from Jeffersonville, IN was born on March 13, 1986. She is a mother to one rambunctious and fun-loving boy named Christopher. She's also related to a few people within the church since her father is a brother to Anna Ashlock Drury.

Though she enjoys engaging in conversation with others she also enjoys photographing quiet sunsets and serene wooded areas of nature. Oh yes, if she could take pictures for a living she would absolutely have the dream job. She especially loves capturing special moments with family and friends. Why? Because certain things are not going to be the same anymore and having a picture reminds her of the blessings God has given her.

Instead of having photography as her means of making ends meet, she works as an administrative office clerk at a law firm. Though she brings the McDonald's bag on Wednesday nights, don't let that fool you into thinking she's a fast food junkie.

Oh no! She loves a good home cooked meal and anything pasta is her favorite. Buon Appetito! Afterwards, if she isn't taking pictures, she likes to sit and watch all kinds of movies or curl up with an exciting suspense book.

It was last year during an emotional time in her life that her cousin Daniel's wife, Laura Leitner, kept asking her to come to church. At first Jessica wasn't going to go but she just felt like she needed to. There was so much was going on in her life and she knew she needed positive Godly women in her life.

One Wednesday night, Jessica decided to go to church. On this particular Wednesday, Ms. Bridget was speaking to the women's group. At some point during the service Ms. Bridget asked Jessica if she would like to ask Jesus into her heart and Jessica said, "Yes!"

The moment she got saved she said she felt different, lighter, like there was something released. And things in her life began to be worked out. She says having wonderful friends such as Elisha Magill and Sherry Waters have helped her so much in her walk with Christ.

Though she knows she has a long journey to get to where God wants her to be, she is excited that He has already made Himself very real to her. One Saturday evening she sensed God in a very awesome way. She said, "It felt like she was jacked up on Mountain Dew." The next day Larry Saylor spoke in church and what he said felt as if God was directly speaking to her.

God was letting her know that she was His precious child and that He will speak to her in a variety of ways, whether it's through His word, through His servants or within her spirit. She loves God and wants to feel Him even more in her life.

She would like to see Revolution Church be even more connected with others and that God would fill any missing links there might be. As far as she is concerned she doesn't know where she would be if it wasn't for the loving people here at Revolution.
